BOOKS TO HELP BEREAVED SIBLINGS

A special scar: the experiences of people bereaved by suicide (2nd edition) Written and researched by a bereaved sibling, this book covers the losses of siblings, parents, children and friends. Alison Wertheimer, 2001, Pb. (Code B01)	£18.99
Beginnings and endings with LIFETIMES in between This beautifully illustrated book reminds us that death is as much a part of life as birth. For all children and their parents. Bryan Mellonie and Robert Ingpen, 1997, Pb. For 6 to 12 year olds. (Code BS01)	£6.99
Facing grief: bereavement and the young adult Deaths of a parent, sibling, friend, partner and child from all causes are covered in this book. Aimed at 18 and over age group. Susan Wallbank, 1997, Pb. (Code BS02)	£13.99
Remembering my brother Chris, the middle child in a family, dies. This book tells how Greg and his family remember Chris, and the good and the sad times are portrayed in photographs of this real family. Ginny Perkins, 1996, Pb. For 5 to 11 year olds. (Code BS03)	£8.99
Sibling bereavement: helping children cope with loss Written for adults concerned for bereaved children. Ann Farrant, 1998, Pb. (Code BS04)	£17.99
Tale of two dolphins (When my sister died suddenly) Written by a 13 year-old girl who lost her older sister in a school minibus accident. Poignant in its sharing of a profoundly painful experience. Illustrated with pencil drawings and watercolours. Sarah Fitzgerald,1998, Pb & Hb. For 6 to 14 year olds. (Code BS05)	£10.99 £5.99
The forgotten mourners: guidelines for working with bereaved children (2nd edition) A simple and accessible book for teachers, social workers and all those involved with grieving children. Susan C Smith, 1999, Pb. (Code BS06)	£10.99
The lone twin: A study in bereavement and loss Helpful to those supporting bereaved young people and for the older bereaved twin. This is a fascinating retrospective study rather than a handbook to coping for the newly bereaved twin. Joan Woodward, 1998, Pb. (Code BS07)	£16.95
Water bugs and dragonflies A delightfully simple way of explaining death to children by using the analogy of the water bugs' short life and their emergence to dragonflies. With notes for parents and optional prayers. Doris Stickney, 1997, Pb. For pre-school age to 11 year olds. (Code BS08)	£2.25
