Our Special Time to Share

Dear Friends

I am pleased to advise you that the arrangements are now taking place for next year's Scottish Forum.

Some of the extracts from the 1997 Scottish Forum evaluations commented about the Forum being a special time and place to be together and share our thoughts and emotions with others who know and understand what it is like to lose the most precious in life, our child or children.

One newly bereaved Mother said that although she had been very nervous about attending, she had felt safe and protected for the first time since her daughter died. "I have been able to be myself again" she said.

I hope "Our Special Time to Share" can be your time to just be yourself, to know that other's truly care and understand and to leave that face behind -you know the one we reserve for the outside world.

Please accept this invitation to come along to the Scottish Forum - if you do you will be made most welcome and we look forward to meeting you.
